

Among those objects made by man, some are poetic and useless, others ordinary and functional. (Kubler) All are sources of artistic inquiry deserving consideration to engage human imagination. Our aim is to search among them for forms suggestive of allegory and fantasy. My main interest has been to portray in sculpture a philosophy for living through a narrative of mythology.